2.6 - Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 - Programme Outcomes and Course Outcomes for all Programmes offered by the institution are stated and displayed on the website and communicated to teachers and students

Course outcomes (COs)

COs describe the knowledge and skills gained by the students at the end of each course. It specifies the cognitive processes offered by a course. Outcome-Based Education (OBE) is a recent, student-centric approach to education that focuses on what students can do in real life after finishing their course. OBE has been used to assess the courses of their desired outcomes. To broaden the teaching-learning activities at our institute, we use the Choice Based Credit System (CBCS), which allows students to select their course. Bloom's Taxonomy is used for the learners to develop their skills in cognitive, affective and psychomotor domains expected in each course. It also inculcates employability and entrepreneurial skills in students.

Mechanism

The institution has clearly stated COs in the prospectus. The annually newly printed prospectus is available to everyone before the admission process. All information about the academic courses is available on the Institutional website. COs are communicated to teachers in departmental meetings. Teachers provide personal counselling to students before the start of each course to educate them on the outcomes of each course. The hard copy of COs is available in the departments for reference to the teachers and students.

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme Outcomes and Course Outcomes as evaluated by the institution

a) Attainment measuring methods

To validate the assessment of teaching-learning activity, various mechanisms are used. Assignments, projects, field reports, internships, oral tests and examinations are used in the assessment process to measure the achievement of each program outcomes (POs), program-specific outcomes (PSOs) and course outcomes (COs). The final validation of outcomes is done through the examination system. In addition, each outcome was assessed using a well-designed survey based on academic progression.

b) Levels of attainment measurement

The curriculum is used to achieve POs and PSOs. For each course, COs are defined and mapped to POs and PSOs. COs are quantitatively assessed using a set of performance evaluation criteria. As a result, the achievement of COs is evidence of the achievement of POs and PSOs. COs are declarations of what students should be able to do at the end of a course. POs are judged on their ability to demonstrate knowledge in core subjects and apply these principles in practical ways. PSOs are statements that state what the graduates of a graduating program should and are capable of doing.

6.5 - Internal Quality Assurance System

6.5.1 - Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) has contributed significantly for institutionalizing quality assurance strategies and processes visible in terms of incremental improvements made during the preceding year with regard to quality (in case of the First Cycle): Incremental improvements made during the preceding year with regard to quality and post-accreditation quality initiatives (Second and subsequent cycles)

1. Strengthening of feedback mechanism: Feedback of stakeholders is of paramount importance in maintenance and augmentation of quality in the Institution. A system of obtaining feedback on academic matters, administrative services, infrastructural facilities and other matters is in place. This is then constructively utilised for making incremental improvements in our quality standards. This feedback mechanism has been strengthened by seeking online feedback from students. A feedback module comprising of a predesigned questionnaire prepared by the feedback committee was developed and linked to the website in order to facilitate recording of the feedback. Feedback was then obtained from stakeholders on four aspects namely overall institutional performance, curriculum, teachers and the teaching learning process. An algorithm was used to analyse the feedback, constructive suggestions received therein were placed in the minutes of BOS, Academic Council and Governing Body meetings for taking necessary action.

2. Strengthening of Autonomy: The institution has granted Autonomous status from academic year 2019-20. Definite measures have been adopted in the second year to strengthen autonomy through regular meetings of staff members called by IQAC. Through these meetings, planning, execution and recording of compliance reports of various departmental and committee related academic as well as extra-curricular activities are accomplished.

6.5.2 - The institution reviews its teaching-learning process, structures and methodologies of operation and learning outcomes at periodic intervals through its IQAC as per norms

1. Online Teaching-Learning and Evaluation System: For online teaching, acquisition of MS Teams license has been used as the platform for lectures and organization of training program for the same is one of the important reforms. The staff training and implementation of LMS was executed by IQAC. Academic quality through strict adherence to academic calendar has been monitored. Preparation of lecture plan, authentication of the same by the head of departments, monitoring of the teaching schedule and regular reporting by the faculty is ensured through regular staff meetings. There was also use of an online system for evaluation ensured by IQAC.
2. Curriculum design as per LOCF, mapping of Outcomes: The syllabi of all final year degree programs have been revised after collecting feedback from all the stakeholders, analysing the same, taking cognizance of the relevant suggestions by incorporating them in the revisions and duly recording these in the minutes of the BOS meeting and validation in the Academic Council meeting. The revised syllabi are in accordance with the Learning-Outcome based Curriculum Framework as per UGC guidelines. Review and revisions of POs, PSOs and COs, mapping and communication of the same to all the stakeholders through website.
