"Campus and Botanical Garden Plant Barcode Project: A Milestone in Plant Identification and Management" (2024-25)

The Department of Botany successfully implemented a comprehensive Plant Barcode Initiative across the entire campus and botanical garden. This initiative involved the meticulous labelling and barcoding of all plant species, enabling easy access to detailed information through QR codes. By scanning the barcodes, students, faculty, and visitors can instantly retrieve information on the scientific names, common names, ecological significance, and uses of the plants. This initiative not only enhances learning and research but also promotes greater awareness of plant diversity within the campus community.
